State Supported Engineering Lab To Be Sought

Terrell Report States Purposes

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University announced yesterday that the University will ask the 1946 General Assembly for funds to establish a state-supported engineering experiment station to help conserve and utilize Kentucky resources.

He stated that $50,000 a year would be required to employ personnel and for other matters of organization. Much of the needed equipment and housing facilities are available on the campus.

Dr. Donovan declared that the station would be patterned after the school's Agricultural Experiment Station and that it would coordinate the functions of five major research laboratories now in operation.

The proposal has already been recommended to the governor's Post-war Advisory Planning commission by a sub-committee headed by Dr. D. V. Terrell of the University College of Engineering.

Dr. Donovan declared that the project had been under consideration for several years and that now was the time to establish it. He also said that an experiment station was essential to Kentucky industry because business in the state is ready to move ahead.

In the Terrell report, purposes of the station were set out as to:

1—Organize, initiate and promote engineering research of special interest to the state.

2—Aid and consult industry with its research problems.

3—Promote the conservation and utilization of the state's resources.

4—Provide support for research training in the fundamental and applied sciences.

"It is a function," the report stated, "of state and local government to utilize some small part of its tax funds in an effort to encourage the development of industry with state-earned capital. Research is undoubtedly the only means by which the state government can

Commencement at the end of the summer term was discontinued at the beginning of the war, but the administration is planning a full program for this August.

CORRECTION

The Kernel wishes to correct the last paragraph in the report of the informal talk on May 8, to the Koffee club by Dr. Huntley Dupre, as stated in the issue of May 11. His correct statement was "If the principles of force and coercion were the only principle that held the United States together, it would collapse at once. Great positive elements, rooted deep in our history and constituting our national culture, give us effective cohesion."

He further stated that if policing were the exclusive instrument to maintain post-war peace, as so many seem to believe, then peace and security are an illusion. World organization depends upon the effective institutionalization of other principles in addition to that of coercion and force, and that in the world community as in the national community positive, creative forces and experiences are necessary.

Dr. Vandembosch To Lead Open Forum On Conference

Charter Discussed At Convocation

Dr. Amry Vandembosch

The second of the two forums on the United Nations conference at San Francisco, under the leadership of Dr. Amry Vandembosch, head of the political science department, will be held at 4 o'clock today in the Union building.

Today's panel will include Dr. Vandembosch, Scott Reed, law college graduate now practicing in Lexington; Dr. W. Scott Hall, professor of history at Transylvania college; and Col. Embury D. Lagrew, who recently returned from Europe where he had been attached to General Patton's Third Army. Colonel Lagrew is a University graduate.

At the first summer convocation held Tuesday in Memorial hall, Dr. Amry Vandembosch expressed the belief that the conference at San Francisco will be known as one of the greatest in the history of the United Nations. He stated that it differed from most peace conferences in that no mention of the usual peace terms were permitted in the discussions; but that its object—to draft a constitution of a world organization—is the very essence of peace.

There was no great personality at this conference as there had been in the Paris conference, the speaker recalled, stating that only the late President Roosevelt could have given the conference the great leadership it badly needed.

Anthony Eden was the most outstanding personality during the short time he was there, the speaker said. His opening speech, coming just at the time the convention needed it most, made a lasting impression on the delegates. Commissar Molotov was greatly handicapped by language, Dr. Vandembosch noted. Much of the greatness of his oration was lost in translation.

Fifty countries were represented.

SUB Sponsors Roof Dance

The first dance of the summer quarter, sponsored by the Union, will be held on Jewell hall roof from 9 to 12 Saturday night. The roof will be decorated in rainbow colors, and tables and chairs will surround the dance floor.

The Kentucky Knights will furnish the music. Admission will be 75 cents for the men, and University girls will be admitted free. Cokes will be sold on the roof.

Chaperons will be Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, Col. and Mrs. W. G. Johnston, Capt. Joseph M. Howard, Mrs. Elizabeth Moores, Mrs. Mildred Turner, Mrs. Gertrude Harvard, Mrs. Louise Lund, Mrs. Gertrude Zemp, and Mrs. Edith Potts.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Marian Yates, Margaret Grigsby, Mary Dunlap, Floye Mullinaux, and Nancy Ellen Taylor.

The social calendar for the remainder of the summer season depends upon the attendance at this dance, Mrs. Dorothy Evans, social director, stated. If this dance is well attended, more dances will be planned for the summer.

Jeep Bears Kernel's Name In Philippines

Somewhere in the Philippines there is a jeep carrying the name of The Kentucky Kernel. Pfc. Joe Hancock, former journalism student, reported this week to the Department of Journalism that he had seen the jeep, driven by a captain. "I gave out with a yell," Private Hancock wrote, "but we were going at a terrific rate of speed, and in opposite directions, so I was unable to investigate the matter."

Farquhar Returns After Illness

Dr. E. F. Farquhar of the Department of English, who has been ill since last November, recently returned to his duties. While he was gone, he visited his son, Dr. Bruce Farquhar, in Kennett Square, Penn. Dr. Farquhar plans to teach the first term of summer school and will return for the fall term.

Frances Jewell McVey

From gracious, generous, and beloved Frances Jewell McVey, the University's students and staff for years drew continual inspiration and strength. In the early moments of her passing there is an inescapable sense of tragic loss. But so well and so fully did she live among us, that all who were privileged to have known her will find strength in the example she set.

RECOGNITION FOR STAFF

The University may boast of its prominent staff members who are rapidly taking important positions in the world. The first summer convocation was addressed by Dr. Amry Vandenbosch, head of the political science department, who recently returned from the San Francisco conference, where he represented the United States State department. Two members of the faculty—Dr. C. G. Latimer, professor of mathematics and Dr. Niel Plummer, head of the journalism department—have been invited to teach in a special university in England for American soldiers. Dr. Latimer will leave this month for his overseas assignment. Dr. Plummer was unable to accept the invitation.

For the benefit of those who saw "The Picture of Dorian Gray," and could not take down the dialogue as rapidly as it was spoken, we are printing parts of it. We apologize for not being able to print more of it, but a crabby person sitting in the row behind us complained to an usher—who confiscated our typewriter.

I sent my soul through the invisible,
Some letter of that after-life to spell;
And by and by my soul returned to me,
And answered, "I myself am heaven and hell."

From the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam

"The only difference between a caprice and a life-long passion is that the caprice lasts a little longer."

"The only way to get rid of a temptation is to yield to it." The following are excerpts, from the original dialogue, which were omitted in the film version.

"Young men want to be faithful, and are not; old men want to be faithless, and cannot."

"Children begin by loving their parents; as they grow older they judge them; sometimes they forgive them."

While we're quoting, we might as well throw in a tidbit from G. B. Shaw.

"When two people are under the influence of the most violent, most insane, most delusive, and most transient of passions, they are required to swear that they will remain in that excited, abnormal, and exhausting condition until death do them part."

No matter what anybody says, we still believe the summer quarter is the best quarter of the year. You have your classes early in the morning, they last terribly long so that you don't have to leave when the prof is just getting interesting, and you can show off your new raincoat every day. If anyone else can think of why summer school is the best quarter, please send a self-addressed envelope to this column.

After hearing Dr. Vandenbosch's excellent report on the San Francisco conference at convocation, we decided that everyone should study a universal language like Esperanto. We asked PVT. ALEX SCHWARTZ of the AST to lend us his Esperanto dictionary, which he gladly did. However, Alex forgot to mention that the meaning of the words were in Hungarian, so now all we have to do is study Hungarian.

On display in the library are some old dance cards and menus giving us an idea of what went on at UK during the 1900's. Particularly interesting is the card of a 1912 hop telling the kind of dance step and the name of each piece. First there was a grand march and then waltzes and pieces like "Oh You Beautiful Doll," were on the card. The last no-break was "My Hero." We may laugh at those cards, but it's easy to see that college students haven't changed much in the past thirty years.

One of our professors made the following remark in class the other day, "Women should be kept in ice-boxes to protect themselves from themselves."

Former Student Killed

A former University student, Cpl. Edward H. Smith, Jr., 30, was killed in action May 25, on Okinawa, according to a message received by his family from the War Department.

Cpl. Smith was a graduate of Picadome high school and before entering the Marines in March, 1944, was a tobacco buyer for the Liggett and Myers Tobacco company, located on the burley market at Huntington, W. Va.

Evans Honored

Dr. Alvin E. Evans, dean of the University College of Law has been notified by the director of the Peruvian Review of Science at Huanacayo, Peru, that he has been appointed an honorary member of the Peruvian Institute of Law and Procedure in consideration of his "outstanding and excellent qualities as professor in the University of Kentucky."

Music Room Open To Listeners

The Carnegie Music room, in the Union, is again open to listeners from 12:30 to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 6 to 8 p.m. Thursday. The listening hours are being resumed after a period in which the machine has been overhauled.

Mrs. Lewis H. Mills, librarian, will play any number in the library requested by listeners.

"Attention is called to the fact that all states adjoining Kentucky and a total of some 30 states now support engineering experiment stations as part of the program of their land grant colleges and universities, and some states support more than one such institution."

Efforts in the past few years to establish such an experiment station have resulted in the organization of a Bureau of Engineering Research and Development. This project has not been fully supported.

The laboratories to be incorporated into the experiment station include: aeronautical, highway, ore dressing, coal and metallurgical research and the regular laboratories in civil, electrical and mechanical engineering.

Kentucky ranks eighth in the nation in mineral output as reported by the United States Bureau of Mines in October, 1944.

of which the smaller states often had stronger delegations that the larger ones, the political science head continued. Australia, New Zealand, and Belgium were especially strong.

Of the great number of representatives, only eight women were present "but these were outstanding women." Among them were representatives of Brazil, Canada, China, Great Britain, and the United States.

In answer to the question why the conference lasted so long, Dr. Vandenbosch explained that many of the delegates from the small countries insisted that it was better to take time to draft a good constitution than to hurry with one that would never be accepted.

He also explained that the conference techniques and developments were not the best. Most of the top leaders had to return to their countries after the first two weeks and the delegates could not work without communicating with them. This was especially true with Russia.

Continuing, the speaker pointed out that the delegates had brought with them all of their proposals and recommendations rather than sending them earlier, and that each of these had to be mimeographed in five different languages. This took up the first two weeks.

He also reminded the audience at this point that before the conference closes, it must approve the official languages of the world constitution. Five languages, English, French, Russian, Chinese, and Spanish, have been requested as the official languages. Dr. Vandenbosch commented that it will be almost impossible to have five languages reading exactly the same.

Dr. Donovan, who presided at the convocation, complimented the large audience on their attendance and expressed the hope that "convocation is something I cannot afford to miss" will soon become a traditional attitude among students.

The Rev. A. W. Hunter, pastor of the Hunter Presbyterian church gave the invocation. Organ music was furnished by Mrs. Lela W. Cullis.

Members of the Wednesday afternoon panel, the first of the series, were Mary Garner, University law student, Dr. Robert Lunde, of the History department, and Dr. Jesse Hermann, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, and Dr. Vandenbosch.

Anyone interested in the discussion is urged to attend.

The Times readers

TOM WALLACE, for fifteen years editor of THE LOUISVILLE TIMES, has his roots deep in the soil of Kentucky. A fifth generation Kentuckian, he was born at Hurricane and moved to Shelby County when he was a boy. Still a farm-dweller, at Prospect, he gets up each morning at 5:00, personally tends his poultry flock, confers with his tenants and brings the milk from his Jersey herd into town. By 8:30 he is at his desk starting his prodigious output of editorials and articles.

Wallace started out as a bookkeeper but quickly realized that his interest lay in the news world. In 1900 he began his career at The Times. Five years later he joined The Courier-Journal as editorial writer and drama critic under "Marse Henry" Watterson. In 1923 he was made chief of The Times editorial staff. In 1930 Times editor.

Concerned with conservation since he was twelve, Wallace has championed by speech and editorial the preservation of our natural resources. Almost single-handed for a time, he fought to save Cumberland Falls for the state, which won him the Pugsley Silver Medal. The annual Tom Wallace Forestry Award is named in his honor.

A world-traveler, he has for the past few years pointed his trips toward South America, especially Mexico . . . writing keen, sympathetic articles south of the border. This month he flew to Caracas for a meeting of the Inter-American Press Association of which he is U. S. vice president.

The Wallaces have two children, a daughter, Mrs. Leo Handel, whose son Tommy is named after his grandfather; and a son, Henry, an officer in the Merchant Marine, somewhere in the South Pacific.

The Lowe-Down

By Dick Lowe

After a week of some of the hardest training they have ever experienced, some 60 odd boys are slowly recovering from their first stage fright and sore muscles. The nights that they tossed in their beds after practice, too tired to enjoy the social life of the campus until 10 p.m. and hearing in their sleep—keep those knees high, run faster, faster, where does 30x go—dig in—hit that line harder—and keep those arms swinging. That is all part of putting a team through its paces, getting in shape to take on some of the stiffest competition in the country.

I registered early the first day of school and noticed some of the largest boys seen on the campus for some time. When I went to football practice the next day I was sure of it as these same boys came hurdling down the field in force and I had to make a hurried exit to keep from being plowed under. All sizes and shapes were on hand. Coach Shively took the tall, lithe boys; they are the prospective back field men.

Coach Bostick went to the opposite side of the field with those in the 200-pound and above class to instruct them in the art of playing a line. Coach Gilb grabbed the exceptionally tall fellows and they will become the ends.

The heat has been terrific and the continuous footwork and exercise will have the fellows down to playing weight, making them as agile as dancers.

A few new members of the squad who have shown unusual ability and have gained the attention of the coaches are George Blanda, Howard Granitz, James Barnett and Dick Hensley. Thirteen veterans from last year are also present, Louis McDonad, Fred Ferris, Gene Haas, Wash Serini, Hugh Shannon, Nick Englis, Henry Paul, Bill Chambers, Roger Yost, Dick Beal, Ken Campbell, and Hobie Thomas.

Coaches Paul Walker from Portsmouth Ohio and Sully Jacobs from Pineville are giving capable assistance as the team is whipped into shape. The "T" formation will still be the principal attack for the Wildcats during the coming season which opens September 22 when the Cats meet Mississippi at Memphis, Tenn.

Dr. Rodman Sullivan To Attend Meeting

Dr. Rodman Sullivan of the College of Commerce will attend a forthcoming meeting of the Civil Aeronautics Board, before which he will act as a witness and consultant. The CAB meeting will be held at Greensboro, N. C., and will be one of several regional meetings, this particular one dealing with the Southeast. Dr. Sullivan's principal interest at the meeting will be to see that Kentucky gets adequate interstate airline service. Final decisions will be made in Washington this fall.

Magazine Collection Given Department

The complete collection of the National Geographic Magazine from 1916-1945 has been given to the geographic department of the University. This gift which was accepted "with gratitude" by the University's board of trustees was given by Mrs. John C. Taylor, 1135 Richmond road, Lexington.

Dr. J. R. Schwendeman, head of the department, stated that this is "a valuable collection which will contribute in a large measure to the library of the department."
